“One man went to mow.” It must be a rare sight now because a local farmer-friend pulled up and snapped my picture from his vehicle. He said he never sees anyone mowing anymore. He went on to recall when, in his younger days, their farm staff had to mow all their dykes with scythes, and at piece work. It was the same on our farm, and that’s where I learned to use one. I carry a scythe in the back of my truck, and use it frequently throughout the year. And what a year? Let’s hope we’ll soon be finished with all this rain. The land is well and truly soddened and the veg. rigs are doing enormous damage, both to the crops and to the soil structure. The problems now won’t be the end of it either. Autumn drilling or ploughing for winter look like being another struggle unless, that is, there’s a sudden dry-up, but time is getting on. Luckily we got the heavy, Brickyard land ploughed dry, just before the wet set in.

I watched a very large ‘gaggle’ of pinkfeet geese flying inland from the Wash this morning (10th Oct). These will be some of the first grey geese to arrive from Iceland, for their winter feeding grounds. I have used the word gaggle because that is the correct collective noun for a flock of geese, in no particular formation, that are honking continuously. It sounds right, doesn’t it? When they are flying in their wide ‘V’ formation it is, of course, a skein. The small flocks of greylag and Canada geese we see throughout the year, and spend most of their time on our wetlands, are resident and breed here. The smaller, much darker brent geese that summer in Siberia began arriving to the Wash marshes a few weeks ago, but rarely come inland.

between 10.00am & 12 noon

From the desk of your Vicar...

Simplistically stated: years ago when someone died they usually died at home or in the fields; the women of the village would deal with laying out the body and the friends and family of the loved one departed would take them, in a coffin made by the local carpenter, to the parish church where there would be a graveside service and burial. Death happened in the midst of life, everyone young and old knew that it happened and, of course, there were many more young deaths with higher infant mortality, and deaths from influenza small pox and so on – some illnesses taking whole families or decimating them. My point is that death was not hidden and secret but faced full on.

In contrast today death is hardly talked about, as though by speaking of it I invite it in! More and more often death is not at home but in a hospice or behind hospital curtains, we buy in professionals to take care of the body and again, often, the service to say goodbye is not in the middle of the village but in that curious place reserved for death – the crematorium. My point is that death is hidden away and even talk of it avoided!

One disastrous result of this social change is that we expect the bereaved to 'get over it' and folk don't know how to talk to people who have lost someone, so they cross the road...

As Christians we believe that Christ beat the last enemy – death – but we do not deny how hard it is to lose our loved ones. As churchgoers we know that loss lasts and lasts and that grief can rush back into the fullest of focus in alarming ways.

Each Autumn we provide a special service where we can particularly recall loved ones lost, where their names can be spoken, where we have space to be quiet and where no one will say – 'Aren't you over that?' This year our Service of Thanksgiving and Memory at St Mary & St Nicholas, Wrangle is on Wednesday 30th October at 7pm.

Please come along and join us if you feel it may be of help to you and please mention it to others who may find it of comfort.

In? Out?

Do you remember the 'Hokey Cokey'?
At school we'd hold hands in a circle,
making it as wide as could be;
suddenly we'd all rush to the centre
shouting 'Oh, you do the Hokey Cokey... in out, in out, that's what it's all about...'
or something like that is stored in my memory.

I don't think any of us had a clue
what we were singing about or if it made sense;
it was just something we joined in to do.

I was reminded of it as I watched TV;
politicians and powerful others all rushing
about,
trying to 'out-shout' and sound really clever!
In the middle of the chaos
are folks like you and me.
It's early October as I write this;
by the end of the month,
who knows where we'll be!
Some things come and some things go but BREXIT goes on for ever...

Some vehicles are parked on the highway and restricting access for farm machinery. The vehicle numbers will be passed to DVLA and to the Police.

or use the 'fixmystreet' app via your mobile phone

This is easy to use to report highway defects, it allows photos to be taken there and then to be added to the report, but they are not necessary. All reports on this app go direct to the relevant authority.

The directional sign at Common Road/Main Road junction

Permission will be sought from LCC for the repair of this directional sign.

BT phone box at Church End

An email has been received regarding the removal of the BT phone box at Church End and the details of purchasing the phone box for £1.00.

Following discussion it was resolved not to object to the removal of the phone box as it has not been used in the last 12 months. It was also resolved not to purchase the phone box.

Recreation Field

Anglian will not be proceeding with their proposed project at this time. The goal posts requested by the Football Club are on wheels which will be removed and stored until they are needed to move the goals. The Parish Council have applied for a grant towards the purchase of the goals.

The witches hat has now been repaired and replaced. The trees at the roadside to the recreation field need to be cut back as they are starting to overhang the highway. Quotes will be sought for the next meeting.
